It is a satisfying experience for me to see the present issue of Akashganga decked with a great many academic, cultural and sports activities either organized by the college or organized elsewhere in which our students and staff made brilliant performances like illuminating and dazzling stars.

An institution of higher learning that our college is, strives hard to encourage and motivate young mind to think independently and learn inherent values for which our nation stands firm. I wish you all get inspiration and learning from various activities organized in the college of which Akashganga is a reflection.

Editorial :

There is no end of the journey of acquiring knowledge. At the same time it is a multifaceted task which encompasses the whole universe or we can say beyond that. In this journey academic life plays a major role. It leaves life long impression on the minds of the students as well as teachers. This academic arena is enriched with various glorious activities of both the students and the staff members in their respective pursuits.
