Guppy breeding for mosquito control

➤ Title of the Practice

This title should capture the keywords that describe the practice.

➤ Objectives of the Practice

The goal is to reduce the mosquito population as much as possible, and reduce the incidence of malaria and dengue fever in local communities.

➤ The Context

Almost everyone in the world has been bitten by a mosquito. Although most types of mosquitoes are just nuisance mosquitoes, some types of mosquitoes spread viruses that can cause various disease such as malaria, dengue, and elephantitis. Many ecologists are focusing to control the infection of mosquito and its breeding. For decades, the fish has been championed as a mosquito fighter and dumped into ponds and ditches to eat up the insect's larvae. We have selected the guppy fishes to control some extent of mosquito in the local areas of Katol

➤ The Practice

Department of zoology has conducted the breeding of guppy fishes in the departmental breeding tanks. Regular feeding and care was taken to increase the numbers of guppy. Daily monitoring, and breeding rate were noticed and records were maintained..

The final year students were involve conducting the activity. Students were aware about the importance of biological agents to control the mosquito and its role in the ecology through conducting group discussion and talk. The total numbers of students were divided in to 4-5 groups having 6-8 students. Students were asked to release the fishes to the different water bodies where mosquito breed and attack is more. The infection of malaria dengue, high fever prone areas were also on the target to release the guppy fishes in the water.

Repeated releases of guppy were also conducted to check the number of fishes in water. We observed that winter season the mosquito infection and activity if more prominent and the activity specifically conducted during the winter.

➤ Evidence of Success

Every 20 to 30 days water were collected from the water bodies where students release the guppy and checked the number of fish and mosquito.

Photographs of guppy breeding and students activity within the water bodies were also noted.

➤ Problems Encountered and Resources Required

Specific attendant / person required to see the rate of guppy breeding and to handle the entire breeding process. During the academic schedule it is very difficult to maintain the breeding sometime. Limited breeding areas within the Zoology laboratory.

- Title: - Guest lecture on “Sericulture for Women empowerment”.

Date: - 9th March 2022

No. of Beneficiaries: - 66

Description of the program:-

- A Guest lecture was arranged by the department on “Sericulture for Women empowerment” for B.Sc. final year students on March 9, 2022. The guest speaker for the seminar was Dr. Manoj Thakare, Asst. Prof., Dept. of Zoology, KZS College, Kalmeshwar. Major goal of the program was to give students a better understanding of the practical uses of sericulture and the employment opportunities that would support women in starting small scale business.
- Dr. Manoj Thakare has pointed out that during the 1990s, when a number of foreign donor agencies made it possible for female-focused NGOs to develop and since then women's empowerment has received special attention in India's rural agro-industrial sector. Women's participation in the workforce, in social and personal decision-making, and in economic development has become a crucial problem as globalization has begun to exclude all socially marginalised groups. Dr. Manoj Thakare explained the complete production and marketing process for silk.

Outcome of the program:

Students gained understanding of the scientific process of producing silk as well as how to build a small business for the growing of silkworm, production, and sale of silk and related products.
